Communities of Practice Database

LSNTAP is excited to announce the creation of a new database dedicated to listing Communities of Practice (CoP) for professionals within the legal aid and legal services field. This comprehensive resource aims to connect attorneys, paralegals, IT staff, executive directors, and other administrative personnel with relevant support groups and professional communities. By fostering these connections, LSNTAP hopes to enhance collaboration, knowledge sharing, and professional development across the sector.

As we embark on this initiative, we invite you to contribute by submitting information about existing communities and support groups for inclusion in our database. Your input is invaluable in ensuring that this resource is as comprehensive and useful as possible. While our organization primarily focuses on providing technology education to legal aid organizations, we recognize the critical importance of this database in supporting the broader community. Together, we can build a robust network that empowers legal aid professionals to thrive in their roles and better serve their communities.
